

NIKA

Game Components:

- 1 board
- 24 pieces
(6x white, 6x red, 6x blue, 6x black)
- Rulebook

Nika is a game for 2-4 players where each player commands a Greek city's hoplite soldiers who must force their way through enemy lines. Troops can push or rout those who would block their way across the narrow battlefield. Coordinate attacks with your ally to secure victory, but make sure to watch your flanks!

The goal is to move at least 1 of your city's pieces into your victory area, marked in your color on the opposite side of the board. If either you or your ally does this, you both win immediately. Your ally starts the game across the board from you. Regardless of the number of players, Athens and Messene (White and Blue) are always allied against Sparta and Thebes (Red and Black). Cities take their turns in clockwise order, always starting with Athens (White).

- W/2 players: Each player controls one pair of allied cities.
- W/3 players: One player controls one pair of allied cities, while the other two players control one city each.
- W/4 players: Each player controls one city.

"I'm in awe of its ability to capture, with simplicity and elegance, the maneuverings of ancient armies. Nika is checkers re-imagined with Greek Hoplite heavy infantry tactics. The rules are incredibly simple. Units all have the same ability and movement. Nika is truly a design masterclass." --andsymo, BGG.com
